Unique Student Identifier

If you're studying nationally recognised training in Australia from 1 January 2015, you will be required to have a Unique Student Identifier (USI). Your USI links to an online account that contains all your training records and results (transcript) that you have completed from 1 January 2015 onwards. Your results from 2015 will be available in your USI account in 2016.

When applying for a job or enrolling in further study, you will often need to provide your training records and results (transcript). One of the main benefits of the USI is the ability to provide learners with easy access to their training records and results (transcript) throughout their life. You can access your USI account online from your computer, tablet or smartphone anytime. Fact sheets –available to download Student Information for the USI

It's free and easy to create your own USI and will only take a few minutes of your time. Alternatively, we can create your USI on your behalf. To do this we will need some additional identification information from you such as your driver's licence number.

Learners are advised that there are a number of unique circumstances where a person may be exempt from requiring a USI. These do not apply to the vast majority of learners in Australia. The USI Exemption Table is available from the USI website which explains these circumstances Click Here. Learners who exercise an exemption from submitting a USI should be aware that the results of the training will not be accessible through the Commonwealth and will not appear on any authenticated VET transcript prepared by the USI Registrar. Further details about the implications of being exempt can be obtained from the USI website: Click Here.

Your safety

Right Choice Training is committed to providing you with a safe environment in which to participate in training and assessment. We are aware under the Work Health and Safety Act 2011 of our responsibilities to maintain a safe environment.

Workplace health and safety legislation applies to everyone at Right Choice Training. All staff, students and visitors have a responsibility to ensure the workplace and training environment are safe and that their own actions do not put the health and safety of others at risk. Please report any unsafe condition, hazards or incident to your Trainer and Assessor and or contact Right Choice training to request an incident/hazard form at

- The accident and any aid administered must be recorded by staff involved, in the injury register.

- Never attempt to lift anything that is beyond your capacity.
- Always bend the knees and keep the back straight when picking up items.
- If you have experienced back problems in the past do not attempt to lift heavy objects at all. Ask someone else to do it for you.

Your equity

Right Choice Training is committed to ensuring that the training and assessment environment is free from discrimination and harassment. All Right Choice Training staff members (including contractors) are aware that discrimination and harassment will not be tolerated under any circumstances. In the event that discrimination and harassment are found to have occurred disciplinary action will be taken against any staff member who breaches this policy. Suspected criminal behaviour will be reported to police authorities immediately. Learners should expect fair and friendly behaviour from Right Choice Training staff members and we apply complaint handling procedures advocated by the Australian Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission (HREOC).

Learners who feel that they have been discriminated against or harassed should report this information to a staff member of Right Choice Training that they feel they can trust. This will initiate a complaint-handling procedure that will be fair and transparent and will protect your rights as a complainant. Alternatively, if a learner wishes to report an instance of discrimination or harassment to an agency external to Right Choice Training, they are advised to contact the HREOC Complaints Info-line on 1300 656 419.

Fees payable

Fees are payable when a learner has received a confirmation of enrolment. The initial fee payment must be paid prior to commencing training or within 5 days of receiving an invoice from Right Choice Training. Right Choice Training may discontinue training if fees are not paid as required. For a full list of current fees and charges please request a copy of Right

Choice Training's schedule of fees and charges.

Learner cancellation

Learners who cancel their enrolment part-way through a training program must notify Right Choice Training in writing via email or letter at the soonest opportunity. Learners who cancel their enrolment after a training program has commenced will not be entitled to a refund of fees. Learners are advised to consider alternative options such as requesting to suspend their enrolment and re-commencing in another scheduled training program.

Refunds

Learners, who give the notice to cancel their enrolment 10 business days or more prior to the commencement of a program, will be entitled to a full refund of fees paid. The course commencement date is the date on which the learner is given access to the learning and assessment activities through the learning management system.

Learners who give the notice to cancel their enrolment less than 10 business days prior to the commencement of a program will be entitled to a 75% refund of fees paid. The amount retained (25%) by Right Choice Training is required to cover the administrative costs of staff and resources.

Where total course fees are less than $1500.00 and fees are paid as pre-payment fees, learners who cancel their enrolment after a training program has commenced will not be entitled to a refund of fees. Where course fees are greater than $1500.00, learners who cancel their enrolment after a training program has commenced will not be required to pay the remaining pending fees when due. However, course fees collected during the enrolment will not be reimbursed.

Payment method

Right Choice Training accepts payment for fees using:

- Credit Card
- Electronic Funds Transfer (account details available on request)
- Cheque (made payable to Right Choice Training)
- Payment in cash is discouraged.

Substitutions

Requests for substitutions are to be made in writing and can be made at any time up to 2 working days before the program commencement date.

Transfers

Requests for transfers to alternate programs can be arranged if Right Choice Training is advised in writing more than 10 working days prior to the program commencement date and there is availability on the selected program. One transfer will be accepted without charge where Right Choice Training has been notified in writing at least 10 working days prior to the scheduled commencement date. All subsequent transfers will attract an administration charge of $55.00 (incl. GST). Once the course is commenced, course transfer is not allowed.

Statutory cooling-off period

The Standards for Registered Training Organisations require Right Choice Training to inform persons considering enrolment of their right to a statutory cooling-off period. A statutory cooling-off period (which is 10 days) is a period of time provided to a consumer to allow them to withdraw from a consumer agreement, where that agreement was established through unsolicited marketing or sales tactics. These include tactics such as door-to-door sales and telemarketing. A statutory cooling-off period allows a consumer to withdraw from a sales agreement within 10 days of having received a sale contract without penalty.

It must be noted that Right Choice Training do not engage in unsolicited marketing or sales tactics and therefore a statutory cooling-off period is not applicable to our learners who have enrolled on a program. For the refund option in other circumstances, learners must refer to the above refund policy.

Our Guarantee to Clients

If Right Choice Training cancels or ceases to provide training, Right Choice Training must issue a full refund for any services not yet provided. The basis for determining “services not yet provided” is to be based on the units of competency completed by the learner and which can be issued in a statement of attainment at the time the service is ceased.

As an example: A learner enrolled in a course of 10 units of competency and paid $1,500.00 upfront as the total course fee. The course was cancelled due to the trainer falling ill and the learner at that time had completed 4 of the 10 units. The learner’s enrolment would be finalised and the learner would receive a Statement of Attainment for the 4 completed units. The learner would also receive a refund of $900.00 which represents the value of the training not delivered.

Changes to terms and conditions

Right Choice Training reserves the right to amend the conditions of the student’s enrolment at any time. If amendments are made that affect the student’s enrolment the student will be informed 7 days prior to changes taking effect. Students then have 28 days to submit an appeal from the date they were informed of the decision. Further information about appealing a decision is contained in the section relating to complaints and appeals handling.

Protection under Australian Consumer Law

As a student undertaking a vocational education and training course, you are protected under Australian Consumer Law and under State and Territory consumer protection laws. These protections include areas such as unfair contract terms, consumer guarantees, statutory cooling-off period, and unscrupulous sales practices. You can find out more information about your rights as a consumer from the Australian Consumer Law website which includes a range of helpful guides relating to specific areas of protection. Please visit the following site for more information: Australian Consumer Law.

Accessing your records

You are entitled to have access to your records. These records include your:

- learner file,
- learning and assessment record,
- administrative records,
- AQF certificates including a re-issuance of a statement of attainment or qualification which has been previously issued.

You may require these records to monitor your progress with training or simply to go back and confirm something in a previous training module. Whilst these records will be retained by Right Choice Training, you are welcome to have access anytime just ask your trainer and it will be organised immediately.

You can access soft copy records and reports from our learner management system, but only relating to you personally.

You can request this access using the Learner Records Request Form. Access to requested records during a workday will be arranged as soon as possible.

In the case of accessing a re-issuance of a previously issued Statement of Attainment or Qualification certificate, if you have lost or misplaced your AQF certificate you may obtain a reissued certificate from Right Choice Training. To obtain this you must complete the Learner Records Request Form and return this to the RTO Business manager. The cost of $49.00 will apply for each issued AQF certificate. These monies must be paid in advance. Reissued AQF certificates will be an exact duplicate of the original with the exception of small wording at the bottom of the document which identifies the certificate as reissued. AQF certificates may only be collected in person or can be posted via registered post. A learner may also nominate another person to collect the certificate, however, these persons must be notified to Right Choice Training beforehand and the person must provide a photo ID to validate their identity.

Continuous improvement

Right Choice Training is committed to the continuous improvement of our training and assessment services, learner services and management systems. Central to this commitment is our approach to continuous improvement and the procedures we apply to achieve systematic and sustained improvement.

Suggesting improvements

The primary method of reporting opportunities for improvement by learners is via the continuous improvement reporting procedure. This procedure allows any person to raise a Continuous Improvement Report for consideration by the Right Choice Training. Often these reports will be generated after an opportunity for improvement has been identified by a staff member or learner. The Continuous Improvement Report template is available on request. Learners are encouraged to provide feedback to Right Choice Training so we can improve our services in the future.

Learner satisfaction survey

Collecting feedback from learners is a critical component of monitoring the success of the course being delivered. Learner satisfaction is a quality indicator of training and assessment services being delivered and also informs the overall completion rate.

Right Choice Training will administer a basic learner feedback form (qualitative) at the following points in the course:

- one week after commencement to measure learner satisfaction with the enrolment pathway and their orientation to the course
- at the 50% course completion to measure the learner satisfaction with the training and assessment services being delivered

At the completion of your training program, you will be issued a Learner Satisfaction Survey. This is a nationally consistent survey tool that is designed to collect feedback from learners about their experience with an RTO and in undertaking nationally recognised training. Your completion and return of this survey are important to Right Choice Training for our ongoing improvement of services and to enable us to report this information to our registering authority. Your assistance in gathering this survey data is greatly appreciated.

Assessment

At Right Choice Training assessment is conducted using a combination of Written Knowledge Assessment, Practical Tasks, Case Studies, Project Work, Supervisor Feedback and Workplace Observation.

The following provides a brief explanation of the primary assessment methods:

- Written Knowledge Assessment: The learner is required to provide a written response to a range of questions relating to the required knowledge of the units of competency. These would generally be short answer response activities and may include other questioning methods including multiple-choice.
- Practical Demonstration/ Observation:
A set of assessment tasks where the learner needs to demonstrate practical skills relevant to the unit of competency. The learner is required to demonstrate a range of skills and applied knowledge whilst being observed by the assessor.

- Project Work/Portfolio of work: The learner is required to undertake a range of projects/portfolios of work to create various workplace documents, reports and outputs relating to the units of competency being delivered. A portfolio of work is suitable for more cognitive tasks when a task involves many steps each resulting in a different piece of work which together represents the completion of the overall task. In project work, tasks typically require input from several sources and the candidate is required to produce an output for the assessment (usually a document) which is intended to inform the workplace.
- Presentation: The learner is required on a number of occasions throughout the course to prepare and present presentation activities. Presentations are always applicable to tasks such as presenting the concept for work activity, reinforcing workplace safety requirements or presenting safety performance information
- Role Play: The learner is required to participate in role-play activities that are conducted according to specific scenarios in the workplace. Role-plays are used to collect evidence of the candidate's ability to primarily communicate and manage relationships with others in the workplace. The assessor will observe the learner through video recordings to assess their abilities and applied knowledge.

- Simulated Case Study: Simulated case studies provide opportunities for learners to analyse complex data, complex issues and problems, apply relevant theory to interpret facts, evaluate possible courses of action, make recommendations, and so forth.

Re-assessment

Learners who are assessed as not yet competent are to be provided with detailed verbal and written feedback to assist them in identifying the gaps in their knowledge and skills to be addressed through further training. These learners are to be provided with additional training and learning support to target their specific gaps in knowledge and/or skills and prepare them for additional assessment.

It is the policy of Right Choice Training to provide three opportunities for the training and re-assessment at no additional cost to the learner or employer. Learners who require additional training and re-assessment after they have exhausted their three opportunities will be required to pay a fee for additional training and re-assessment. Please refer to the current fee schedule to identify the re-assessment fee.

Learners requiring additional learning support are to be brought to the attention of Right Choice Training management so the progress of the learner can be monitored closely and additional support services can be applied well before it becomes necessary to impose an additional fee for re-assessment. Where learners repeatedly do not demonstrate competence following significant learning and assessment support, a learner's enrolment can be determined through mutual agreement.

Issuing Qualifications and Statements of Attainment

Right Choice Training will issue all Australian Qualification Framework certification documentation (Qualifications or Statements of Attainment) to a student within 30 calendar days of the student being assessed as meeting the requirements of the training product if the training program in which the student is enrolled is complete. Please note however that Right Choice Training is not obliged to issue a certificate to a completed student if:

- All agreed fees the student owes to Right Choice Training have been paid.
- The student has provided a valid Unique Student Identifier.

Students should be aware that a:

- Qualification is the result of a student achieving the units of competency for a qualification outcome as specified in an endorsed training package or an accredited course. A qualification is a formal certification that a student has achieved learning outcomes as described in the AQF. Technically within the AQF qualification is comprised of a testamur and a record of results. A testamur is the actual official certification document that confirms that a qualification has been awarded to an individual.

- Statement of Attainment is issued when the student has achieved one or more units of competency as a result of completing a course that included units of competency only or where the student achieved one or more units of competency as part of enrolment in a qualification-based course but the student did not achieve all of the units of competency to receive the full qualification.

Learner support services

During your enrolment, Right Choice Training will engage with you on a number of occasions to identify if you require any support. We do this by requesting you to complete enrolment documentation which includes the enrolment form, pre-training review and core skills assessment if required

One of the important objectives of these engagements is to understand what support services you may need to fully participate in your study. You will be asked various questions about your support needs or your "individual needs". This is simply the term we use to define what your needs are and this enables us to organise the appropriate support services. Make sure you take the most of this opportunity and let us know if you need support.

WHAT SUPPORT IS AVAILABLE?

Right Choice Training will use a combination of our own services and the services of referral agencies to either provide or refer you to the following support services:

- Language, Literacy and Numeracy Support.
- Studying and Learning Coaching.
- English as Second Language Tuition.
- Alternative Payment Plan.
- Counselling Support.
- Disability Access.
- Employment Services Referral.

If you need support during your course, please approach and inform RTO Business Manager and you will be connected with the best person who can assist you. It is our absolute priority to provide you with the support needed to enable you to progress in your study and complete your chosen course. Right Choice Training is committed to our student's welfare during the course of the study. Your designated contact person is

Language, literacy & numeracy skills

Language, literacy and numeracy skills are critical to almost all areas of work. This is particularly true in many vocations where language, literacy and numeracy skills influence the performance of workplace tasks such as measuring, weighing and comprehending written work instructions.

To support this approach, Right Choice Training will:

- Ensure that prior to qualification/course commencement, Learners have completed a comprehensive Literacy, Language & Numeracy Assessment during the enrolment stage if they do not have prior education equivalent to the AQF level they are enrolling
- Support learners during their study with training and assessment materials and strategies that are easily understood and suitable to the level of the workplace skills being delivered;
- Provide clear information to learners about the details of the language, literacy and numeracy assistance available. Right Choice Training generally recommends the LLN training courses provided by TAFE or Community Colleges. These institutes have specialist teachers to support the learner's development.
- Refer learners to external language, literacy and numeracy support services that are beyond the support available within Right Choice Training and where this level of support is assessed as necessary; and

- Negotiate an extension of time to complete training programs if necessary.

Reasonable adjustment

Reasonable adjustment will be provided for learners with special learning needs (such as a disability or learning difficulty) according to the nature of their learning requirement. Learners may negotiate to customise assessment tasks to meet their individual needs in relation to a workplace setting, interests, learning style, literacy, disability or cultural background.

Reasonable adjustments ensure that participants are not presented with barriers to demonstrating achievement in the program of study. Reasonable adjustments may include the use of adaptive technology, educational support, and alternative methods of assessment such as oral assessment.

Students can inform Right Choice Training of their disabilities through the enrolment form or during the Pre-Training review process. Disclosure of a disability is the choice of the student and is not a requirement for participation in an accredited course or a non-accredited course.

Making complaints & appeals

Right Choice Training is committed to providing a fair and transparent complaints and appeals process that includes access to an independent external body if required. To make a complaint or an appeal, you are requested to complete one of the following forms:

- Complaint Form
- Request for Appeal of a Decision

These forms are available via our website at the following address:

- www.rightchoicetraining.com.au

Once you have completed the required form you are requested to submit this to the RTO Business Manager either in hard copy or electronically via the following contact details:

- Right Choice Training, Level 3 478 George Street Sydney 2000
- admin@rightchoicetraining.com.au

If you are having any difficulty accessing the required form or submitting it to us, please contact us at the following number:

What is a complaint?

A complaint is a negative feedback about services or staff that has not been resolved locally. A complaint may be received by Right Choice Training in any form and does not need to be formally documented by the complainant in order to be acted on. Complaints may be made by any person but are generally made by learners and/or employers.

What is an appeal?

An appeal is an application by a learner for reconsideration of an unfavourable decision or finding during training and/or assessment. An appeal must be made in writing and specify the particulars of the decision or finding in dispute. Appeals must be submitted to Right Choice Training within 28 days of the learner being informed of the decision or finding.

Early resolution of complaints & appeals

In all cases, issues that arise during training and assessment that are the source of frustration or are in dispute should be resolved at the time, as they occur between the persons involved, where possible. Sometimes, it will not be possible and in these cases, you are encouraged to come forward and inform us of your concerns with the confidence that you will be treated fairly.

Complaint and appeals handling

Right Choice Training applies the following principles to its complaints and appeals handling:

- A complaint or appeal may be received in any form (written, or verbal) although persons seeking to make a complaint are recommended to complete the complaint form or request for an appeal of a decision which is available on the Right Choice Training website.

- A person who makes a complaint or an appeal must be provided with a written acknowledgement as soon as possible and not later than 24 hours from the time the complaint or the appeal is received. The acknowledgement must inform the person that they will receive a written response within 14 days and explain the complaint/appeal handling process and the person's rights and obligations.
- There is no time limitation on a person who is seeking to make a complaint. An appeal however must be made within 28 days of the person being informed of the decision or finding of which they intend to appeal.
- Written records of all complaints/appeals are to be kept by Right Choice Training including all details of lodgement, response and resolution. Right Choice Training will maintain a complaints/appeals register to be used to record the details of the complaint/appeal and to maintain a chronological journal of events during the handling process. Records relating to complaint/appeal handling are stored securely to prevent access to unauthorised personnel.

- A person making a complaint or seeking an appeal is to be provided with an opportunity to formally present his or her case at no cost.
- Each person may be accompanied and/or assisted by a support person at any relevant meeting.
- Where a complaint or appeal is made about or involves allegations about another person, Right Choice Training is obliged to inform this person about this complaint/appeal or allegation and provide them with the opportunity to respond and present information in response to the issues raised. This may be achieved through direct meetings or meetings via electronic means. Right Choice Training will maintain a detailed record of these meetings in the form of a record of the conversation. At all times information must be handled sensitively and treated in confidence. Persons involved in a dispute or complaint should be reminded to treat each other with respect and conduct themselves in a professional and courteous manner.
- The handling of a complaint/appeal is to commence within seven (7) working days of the lodgement of the complaint/appeal and all reasonable measures are taken to finalise the process as soon as practicable.
- The person making a complaint or seeking an appeal is to be provided with a written response to the complaint/appeal, including details of the reasons for the outcome. A written response must be provided to the person within fourteen (14) days of the lodgement of the complaint/appeal.
- Complaints/appeals must be resolved to a final outcome within sixty (60) days of the complaint/appeal being initially received. Where Right Choice Training Chief Executive Officer considers that more than 60 calendar days are required to process and finalise the complaint/appeal, the CEO must inform the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal in writing, including reasons why more than 60 calendar days are required. As a benchmark, Right Choice Training will attempt to resolve complaints/appeals as soon as possible. A timeframe to resolve a complaint/appeal within thirty (30) days is considered acceptable and in the best interest of Right Choice Training and the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal. A person making a complaint or seeking an appeal should also be provided with regular updates to inform them of the progress of the complaint/appeal handling. Updates should be provided to the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal at a minimum of two (2) weekly intervals.

- Right Choice Training shall maintain the enrolment of the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal during the handling process.
- Decisions or outcomes of the complaint/appeal handling process that find in the favour of the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal shall be implemented immediately.
- Complaints/appeals are to be handled in the strictest of confidence. No Right Choice Training representative will disclose information to any person without the permission of the Right Choice Training Chief Executive Officer. A decision to release information to third parties can only be made after the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal has given permission for this to occur. This permission should be given using the Information Release Form.
- Complaints/appeals are to be considered and handled to ensure the principles of natural justice and procedural fairness are applied at every stage of the handling process. This means that the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal is entitled to be heard with access to all relevant information and with the right of reply. The person making a complaint or seeking an appeal is entitled to have their complaint heard by a person that is without bias and may not be affected by the decision. Finally, the decision must be made based on logical evidence and the decision-maker must take account of relevant considerations, must act for a proper purpose and must not take into account irrelevant considerations.

Informing Persons and Responding to Allegations

Where a complaint involves one person making allegations about another person, it is a requirement for Right Choice Training to hear both sides of the matter before making any judgements about how the complaint should be settled. A person who will be affected by a decision made by Right Choice Training as a result of a complaint has the right to be fully informed of any allegations and to be provided adequate opportunity to be heard and respond. The person has the right to:

- put forward arguments in their favour,
- show cause why the proposed action should not be taken,
- deny allegations,
- call for evidence to disprove allegations and claims,
- explain allegations or present an innocent explanation, and
- provide mitigating circumstances (information aimed at reducing the severity, seriousness, of something).

Right Choice Training also has an obligation to fully consider the substance of allegations and the response provided by parties before making a decision. Decisions must be communicated to the complainant and relevant persons subject of allegations in writing. This is to include advising these persons of their right to seek a third-party review of decisions made by Right Choice Training.

Where an allegation is made that involves alleged criminal or illegal activity and it is considered outside the scope and expertise of Right Choice Training to investigate the matter, then in these circumstances Right Choice Training reserves the right to report these allegations to law enforcement authorities. Persons related to the matter involving alleged criminal or illegal activity will be advised in writing if this course of action is being taken.

Review by an independent third party

Right Choice Training provides the opportunity for the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal who is not satisfied with the outcomes of the complaints and appeals handling process to seek a review by an independent person. Before a person seeks a review by an independent person, they are requested to first allow Right Choice Training to fully consider the nature of the complaint or appeal and to fully respond to the person in writing. If after this has occurred, the person is not satisfied with the outcome, they can then seek a review by an independent person. To request a review by an independent person, the complainant or the person making an appeal should inform the RTO Business Manager of their request who will initiate the process with the Chief Executive Officer.

In these circumstances, the Right Choice Training Chief Executive Officer will advise of an appropriate party independent of Right Choice Training to review the complaint (and its subsequent handling) and provide advice to Right Choice Training in regard to the recommended outcomes. The independent third party is required to respond with their recommendations within fourteen (14) working days of their review being requested.

Where the Right Choice Training appoints or engages an appropriate independent person to review a complaint/appeal, the Right Choice Training will meet the full cost to facilitate the independent review.

Following an independent review, advice received from the independent person is to be accepted by Right Choice Training as final, advised to the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal in writing and implemented without prejudice.

Where a complaint is received by Right Choice Training and the Chief Executive Officer feels that they may be biased or there is a perception of bias, then the complaint is to be referred directly to an independent third party for consideration and response as outlined above.

Unresolved Complaints and Appeals

Where the person making a complaint or seeking an appeal is not satisfied with the handling of the matter by Right Choice Training, they have the opportunity for a body that is external to Right Choice Training to review his or her complaint or appeal following the internal completion of complaint or appeals process.

Learners who are not satisfied with the process applied by Right Choice Training may refer their matter to the following external agencies:

- In relation to consumer-related issues, you may refer their complaint to the Office of Fair Trading.
- In relation to the delivery of training and assessment services, you may refer their complaint to the National Training Complaints Service via the following phone number: 13 38 73 or visit the website <https://www.education.gov.au> at
- In relation to matters relating to privacy, you may refer their complaint to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner via the following details: <https://www.oaic.gov.au> or call on 1300 363 992

Withdrawing from a course

There are circumstances where a learner may finalise their enrolment early for personal or academic reasons. Where this is the case, the learner is requested to complete the form Application for Course Deferment / Transfer / Withdrawal. This provides the learner with the opportunity to specify their reasons and select to indicate their preference to defer their enrolment, to transfer their enrolment to another course or to terminate their enrolment altogether. Where the enrolment is being deferred or terminated, learners will be issued a statement of attainment to recognise the outcomes they have achieved during their enrolment. A learner who defers and returns to complete a course will be eligible to recommence their training and receive a credit transfer for any completed units of competency. The Chief Executive Officer will review these applications, where possible is to interview the learner to understand their circumstances and is to record their decision using the section provided on the application. Learners are to be informed of this decision in writing.

Learner who are not contactable or not responding

Where a learner is not contactable or fails to respond to requests by the Right Choice Training, the learner's enrolment may be terminated in absentia. This action may only be taken where the Right Choice Training has made every reasonable attempt to engage with the learner or contact the learner to seek their instructions about their intentions to continue with or complete the applicable course. Advice received from a learner via email or phone conversation communicating their request is to be accepted where the learner is not willing to complete an Application for Course Deferment / Transfer / Withdrawal. Email records and written records of phone conversations are to be retained on the learner's file as evidence of these expressed instructions from the learner.

Before a learner's enrolment can be terminated without their written or expressed consent the following protocol is to be followed:

- A minimum of three attempts (four weeks apart) must be made using the last known contact details (email, phone and mail) to contact the learner and issue the learner with a warning letter notifying them of the intent to terminate the enrolment.
- Where the learner fails to respond, the learner's enrolment is to be terminated and the learner's record within the student management system is to be updated with the outcome of "withdrawn" entered into each unit of competency that has not been completed at the time.
- Any final AQF certificate to which the learner is entitled is to be sent by registered mail to the learner's last known mailing address. This should also be noted in the learner's enrolment record and a photocopy of the certificate retained on the learner's record.

- The learner's record is to be archived in accordance with the Records Retention and Management Policy.

Applicable trainers are to be informed of the learner's enrolment termination and advised to inform the RTO Business Manager if the learner makes contact.

Recognition of Prior Learning

In accordance with the requirements of the Standards for Registered Training Organisations, Right Choice Training provides the opportunity for learners to apply to have prior learning recognised toward a qualification or units of competence for which they are enrolled.

What is recognition?

Recognition involves the assessment of previously unrecognised skills and knowledge that an individual has achieved outside the formal education and training system. Recognition assesses this unrecognised learning against the requirements of a unit of competence, in respect of both entry requirements and outcomes to be achieved. By removing the need for duplication of learning, recognition encourages an individual to continue upgrading their skills and knowledge through structured education and training towards formal qualifications and improved employment outcomes. This has benefits for the individual and industry.

Most importantly, it should be noted that recognition is just another form of assessment.

Recognition guidelines

The following guidelines are to be followed when an application for recognition is received:

- Any learner is entitled to apply for recognition in a course or qualification in which they are currently enrolled.
- Learners may not apply for recognition for units of competence or a qualification which are not included in Right Choice Training scope of registration.
- Whilst learners may apply for recognition at any time, they are encouraged to apply before commencing a training program. This will reduce unnecessary training and guide the learner down a more efficient path to competence.
- Learners who are currently enrolled in a training program are eligible to apply for recognition in that program at no additional charge.
- Assessment via recognition is to apply the principles of assessment and the rules of evidence.
- Recognition may only be awarded for whole units of competence.

Forms of evidence for recognition

The recognition acknowledges that workplace skills and knowledge may be gained through a variety of ways including both formal and informal learning or through work-based or life experience.

Like assessment, recognition is a process whereby evidence is collected and a judgement is made by an assessor or assessment team. The judgement is made on evidence provided by candidates of the skills and knowledge that they have previously learnt through work, study, life and other experiences and that they are currently using. It also includes evidence to confirm a candidate's ability to adapt prior learning or current competence to the context of the intended workplace or industry.

Forms of evidence toward recognition may include:

- Work records;
- Records of workplace training;
- Assessments of current skills;
- Assessments of current knowledge;
- Third-party reports from current and previous supervisors or managers;
- Evidence of relevant unpaid or volunteer experience;
- Examples of work products;
- Observation by an assessor in the workplace;
- Performance appraisal; or
- Duty statements.

Many of these forms of evidence would not be sufficient on their own. When combined together, with a number of evidence items, the candidate will start to provide a strong case for competence. Right Choice Training reserves the right to require candidates to undertake practical assessment activities of skills and knowledge in order to satisfy itself of a candidate's current competence.

Credit Transfer

Credit Transfer is the recognition of learning achieved through formal education and training. Under the Standards for Registered Training Organisations, units of competency issued by any RTO are to be accepted and recognised by all other RTOs. Credit Transfer allows a learner to be issued a unit of competency based on successful completion of the unit which has been previously awarded.

Evidence requirements

If you are seeking credit transfer you are required to present your statement of attainment or qualification with a record of results for examination to Right Choice Training.

These documents will provide the detail of what units of competence you have been previously issued. You must provide satisfactory evidence that the statement of attainment or qualification is authentic, is yours and that it has been issued by an Australian RTO. Statements of attainment or qualifications should be in the correct format as outlined in the Australian Qualifications Framework. You are required to submit copies only which are certified as a true copy of the original.

Credit transfer guidelines

The following guidelines are to be followed in relation to credit transfer:

- Any learner is entitled to apply for credit transfer in a course or qualification in which they are currently enrolled.
- Learners may not apply for credit transfer for units of competence or qualification which are not included in Right Choice Training scope of registration.
- Whilst learners may apply for credit transfer at any time, they are encouraged to apply before commencing a training program. This will reduce unnecessary training and guide the learner down a more efficient path to competence.
- The learner does not incur any fees for credit transfer and Right Choice Training does not receive any funding when credit transfer is granted.
- Credit transfer may only be awarded for whole units of competence. Where a mapping guide identifies a partial credit, this will not be considered for credit transfer and applicants will be advised to seek recognition.

Legislative and Regulatory Responsibilities

Right Choice Training is required to operate in accordance with the law. This means we comply with the requirements of legislative and regulatory requirements. The following legislation is a list of the Acts that Right Choice Training has recognised it has compliance responsibilities. They also represent obligations to you as a learner whilst training with Right Choice Training.

During your day-to-day work and when participating in training, you will need to be aware of the relevant legislation that may impact your conduct and behaviour.

Copies of State and Federal legislation can be found on the Internet at <http://www.australia.gov.au/information-and-services/public-safety-and-law/legislation/states-and-territories> (State) and www.comlaw.gov.au (Federal).

The following is a summary of the legislation that will generally apply to your day-to-day work and training.

The main object of this Act is to provide for a balanced and nationally consistent framework to secure the health and safety of workers and workplaces. The WHS Act protects workers and other persons against harm to their health, safety and welfare through the elimination or minimisation of risks arising from work or from types of substances or plants.

The WHS Act covers workers by providing nationally uniform work health and safety laws. This includes employees, contractors, sub-contractors, outworkers, trainees, work experience learners, volunteers and employers who perform work.

The WHS Act also provides protection for the general public so that their health and safety is not placed at risk by work activities.

Section 29 of the WHS Act requires that any person at a workplace, including customers and visitors, must take reasonable care of their own health and safety and that of others who may be affected by their actions or omissions.

They must also cooperate with any actions taken by the person conducting business or undertaking to comply with the WHS Act and WHS Regulation.

Privacy Act 1988

The Privacy Act is supported by the Australian Privacy Principles which came into effect on 12th March 2014. The object of the Australian Privacy Principles is to ensure businesses and government agencies manage personal information in an open and transparent way.

Review the section within this handbook that relates to privacy protection. It provides you with information about:

Disability Discrimination Act 1992

Sect 5 - Disability Discrimination

(1) For the purposes of this Act, a person (discriminator) discriminates against another person (aggrieved person) on the grounds of a disability of the aggrieved person if, because of the aggrieved person's disability, the discriminator treats or proposes to treat the aggrieved person less favourably than, in circumstances that are the same or are not materially different, the discriminator treats or would treat a person without the disability.

For the purposes of subsection (1), circumstances in which a person treats or would treat another person with a disability are not materially different because of the fact that different accommodations or services may be required by the person with a disability.

Sex Discrimination Act 1984

Objects The objects of this Act are:

- to give effect to certain provisions of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women; and

Copyright Act 1968

Copyright is a type of property that is founded on a person's creative skill and labour. It is designed to prevent the unauthorised use by others of a work, that is, the original form in which an idea or information has been expressed by the creator.

Copyright is not a tangible thing. It is made up of a bundle of exclusive economic rights to do certain acts with an original work or other copyright subject matter. These rights include the right to copy, publish, communicate (eg. broadcast, make available online) and publicly perform the copyrighted material.

There is no general exception that allows a work to be reproduced without infringing copyright. Where a part of a work is copied, the issue is whether a substantial part of that work has been reproduced and thus an infringement has occurred. However, there is a 10% rule which applies in relation to fair dealing copying for the purposes of research or study. A reasonable portion of a work may be copied for that purpose, and a reasonable portion is deemed to be 10% of a book of more than 10 pages or 10% of the words of a work in electronic form.

Fair Work Act 2009

The main objectives of this Act are to provide a balanced framework for cooperative and productive workplace relations that promote national economic prosperity and social inclusion for all Australians by:

Providing workplace relations laws that are fair to working Australians, are flexible for businesses, promote productivity and economic growth for Australia's future economic prosperity and take into account Australia's international labour obligations;

Ensuring a guaranteed safety net of fair, relevant and enforceable minimum terms and conditions through the National Employment Standards, modern awards and national minimum wage orders;

Enabling fairness and representation at work and the prevention of discrimination by recognising the right to freedom of association and the right to be represented, protecting against unfair treatment and discrimination, providing accessible and effective procedures to resolve grievances and disputes and providing effective compliance mechanisms.

National Vocational Education and Training Regulator Act 2011

This legislation provides the basis for the regulation of Registered Training Organisations in Australia. The legislation provides the basis for the establishment of the National VET Regulator who is the registration authority for RTOs. A core component of this legislation is that it defines the condition for the registration of an RTO which include:

- compliance with the VET Quality Framework
- satisfying Fit and Proper Person Requirements
- satisfying the Financial Viability Risk Assessment Requirements
- notifying National VET Regulator of important changes
- cooperating with National VET Regulator
- compliance with directions given by the National VET Regulator
